GETTING READY TO PLAY

MAKE SURE THE COLECOVISION® UNIT OR ADAM™ IS OFF BEFORE INSERTING OR REMOVING A CARTRIDGE.

Choose your challenge!

The Title Screen appears on your TV. Wait for the Game Option screen to appear, then use the controller keypad to choose the skill level you want to play:

Skill 1 is just right for beginners. You get five Ram-cars for survival.

Skill 2 isn't as easy. You face tougher opponents with only four Ram-cars.

Skill 3 presents professional arcade action on your home screen. You get four Ram-cars to face the ruthless Insektoids™.

Skill 4 is the ultimate challenge. How long will your four Ram-cars last?

Select a skill option by pressing the corresponding number button on the controller keypad.

WRECK THE INSEKTOIDS™!

Your starcruiser is millions of light years from home in search of precious Crystals in Araknid™, a city on the planet Arthros. Your purpose is to collect Crystals and take them back to Earth. Your methods are many. Ram Krystaloids™. The impact creates a chain reaction causing them to form into Crystals. Ram Crystals into or fire them at Insektoids™ to stop their fatal harm. Fire Crystals at the deadly Destructor™ to stun it momentarily. Then quickly take the Crystals to your starcruiser for safe keeping!

Use Coleco's Expansion Module #2 driving unit to guide the armored Ram-car through Araknid's™ maze. Search for the Krystaloid™ insects. Ram them to form Crystals, then push the Crystals to the starcruiser. Beware of the Insektoids™. If they catch your Ram-car, they'll feast on it!

Keep an eye out for the appearance of Destructor™, the ruthless Insektoid™ master who threatens your survival! Destructor™ tracks your Ram-car to the ends of the city.

The road is choked with ravenous Insektoids™. They can be eliminated, but Destructor™ keeps on coming! In the end, it's either you or Destructor™. Who will win?

USING YOUR CONTROLS

---

Assemble Expansion Module #2 as shown in its owner's manual. Connect the module to Port 1 of the ColecoVision® console or ADAM™. Connect a hand controller to Port 2. Turn the power ON.

1. Keypad: Before the game, Keypad Buttons 1-4 allow you to select the Skill Option you want to play.

During the game, press any number Keypad Button to fire the Crystal that Ram-car is pushing.

2. Steering Wheel: The Steering Wheel turns your Ram-car just like a car steering wheel. Rotate the wheel clockwise to turn Ram-car to the right. Rotate the wheel counter-clockwise to turn to the left.

3. Control Stick: Press the Control Stick up (away from you) to put the Ram-car in forward gear. Press the Control Stick down (toward you) to put the Ram-car in reverse gear. This also releases a Crystal that you are pushing. Pressing the Control Stick in any other direction has no effect.
4. Foot Pedal: Press the Foot Pedal to increase your Ram-car's speed. Release the pedal to decrease speed to a stop.

NOTE: The Side Buttons are not used in DESTRUCTOR™.

HERE'S HOW TO PLAY

Speed away!

Your Ram-car stands on the starcruiser ramp, ready to collect precious Crystals for Earth. You begin each turn in forward gear. Press the Foot Pedal to move the Ram-car off the ramp and down to the business of collecting!

Crystal-ization.

The Crystals Needed indicator tells you how many Crystals to take back to the starcruiser. Higher Skill Levels require you to gather more Crystals than lower Skill Levels. The more missions you complete at any Skill Level, the more Crystals you'll have to gather as you continue playing. Better start moving through the Araknid™ maze to find those Crystals!

Keep your eyes on the road.

The Ram-car is a hardy machine. It can bump the border or starcruiser without the slightest damage. But the Arthros acid river is another story. If the Ram-car runs off the road into the acid river, it sinks and disintegrates!

Danger.

At first, the streets of Araknid™ appear empty, even safe. Look at the radar screen. Nothing appears to threaten, but don't trust the calm. At any moment, Insektoids™ can attack. Beware! Insektoids™ eat metal and synthetics. They feast on Ram-cars!

Crack a Krystaloid™.

So where are the Crystals? They're inside the Krystaloids™. Ram one and the impact creates a chain reaction that causes it to form a Crystal. Drive your Ram-car against the Crystal to grab hold of it. Now push your prize to the starcruiser.

Remember, you can't pull a Crystal. Going in reverse releases it. You can push one Crystal at a time while going forward or turning.

Caution: Acid and Crystals don't mix! If a Crystal touches the acid river, it disintegrates. So be careful not to lose your precious cargo!

More is less.

Each sector of the city has a finite number of Krystaloids™ roaming its corridors. You may not always have swarms of Krystaloids™ around you.

As you ram Krystaloids™ into Crystals, they seem to send out signals to others as a warning. The more Krystaloids™ you ram, the fewer and fewer show up looking to become your catch! What do you do? You'll have to search in other sectors of Araknid™ for more catch. But whatever you do, grab hold of a nearby Crystal and push it to your starcruiser. There's no time to lose!

Up the ramp.

When you get to the starcruiser, push the Crystal up the ramp. When the Crystal reaches the starcruiser's hold, it drops in, freeing you for another trek through the maze in search of more Krystaloids™.

Battling the Insektoids™.

Insektoids™ crowd your Ram-car. What now? Ram more Krystaloids™ and build a wall of Crystals to temporarily stop the enemy from getting to you. Insektoids™ cannot move Crystals, but they can move around them!

Here's a hint: Ravenous Insektoids™ like to eat isolated Crystals—those standing alone. And they sometimes like to eat Crystals that are touching others—those linked as Crystal walls. But usually they just turn away from the walls. The walls of Crystals can protect not only your Ram-car, but also the Crystals themselves!

Shooting Back.

Crystals have many uses. The energized (flashing) Crystals pushed by the Ram-car are deadly to Insektoids™. If an Insektoid™ comes into contact with an energized Crystal, both the Insektoid™ and the valuable Crystal are eliminated in an explosion. A small price to pay for survival!

Your Ram-car has two attack options. You can ram an energized Crystal into an Insektoid™ or shoot the Crystal. To shoot, aim the Ram-car at the Insektoid™ and press any number Keypad Button to fire the Crystal. If the Crystal makes contact, both are eliminated.

Enter Destructor™!

Just when you have the feel of this alien world, Destructor™ appears. Now you realize that the king of enemies has arrived. You can first see Destructor™ when it appears as a black square on your Ram-car's radar screen. It's sniffing the streets of Araknid™ looking for you. Destructor™ stops to eat Crystals as it moves through Araknid's™ maze—even when it's out of sight (you can hear it munching).

Destructor™ on the move.

Soon enough, Destructor™ shows up. It's on the move and you need protection. Quickly build walls of Crystals. These walls delay Destructor™ for a bit, giving you a chance to grab another Crystal and push it to the starcruiser!

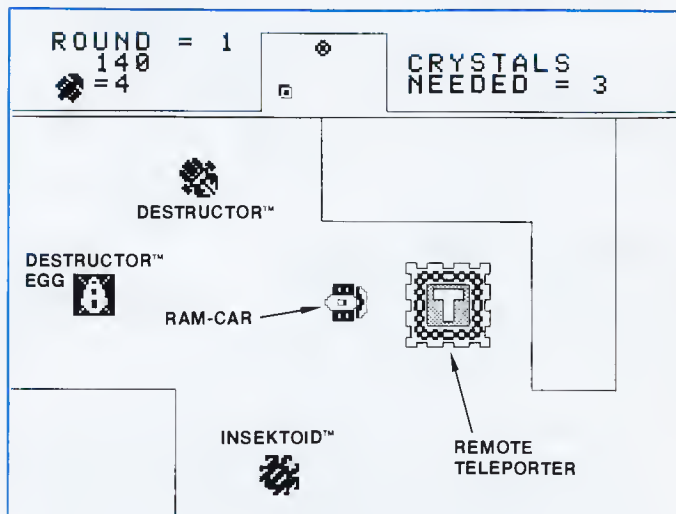

Destructor™ can never be eliminated, and continues pursuing you. Now you can be clever. If you ram Destructor™ with an energized Crystal, it stops to eat. But if you fire a Crystal at it, Destructor™ stops in its tracks, stunned for a few seconds. You've sacrificed another Crystal for survival. Use your costly time wisely.

Destructor™ Eggs.

See the harmless-looking, yellow-and-black form sitting in the road and motionless? It's a Destructor™ egg. Drive by if you must, but be careful. Sometimes the egg hatches a new Destructor™ to chase you! Perhaps just to be safe, fire a Crystal at it. That'll take care of matters—for now.

Here one minute, gone the next.

Your Ram-car is trapped: Insektoids™ are closing in, Destructor™ is breathing down your neck and the starcruiser is clear on the other side of Araknid™. What can you do? How can you escape? Quickly roam sectors of the city to find a remote Teleporter to get back to the ship. Drive into the Teleporter. Moments later the Ram-car appears in the Master Teleporter on the starcruiser. You're temporarily safe from Insektoid™ enemies.

Every time you use a remote Teleporter, you always teleport to the starcruiser. When you re-enter the Master Teleporter, you always return to the remote Teleporter you originally came from.

Whenever you start a new round, or whenever your Ram-car is eaten by an enemy and you restart the same round, the Master Teleporter is deactivated. You must use a remote Teleporter to get back to the ship and activate the Master Teleporter.

By the way, if your Ram-car pushes a Crystal into a Teleporter, both the Ram-car and the Crystal return to the starcruiser's Master Teleporter. Drive around the ship, go up the ramp and push the Crystal into the ship's hold. Safe!

The Final Crystal.

The Crystals Needed indicator reads one Crystal to go. Your Ram-car places this final Crystal in the starcruiser and your first mission is now complete. Fasten your seatbelt—the starcruiser is ready to blast off to return to Earth!

Second chance.

If you've survived your first go-round on Araknid™, you return from Earth to land in a new location of a transformed city. What's different this time? Road connections may have changed. Bridges may no longer cross canals. Teleporters are located in different sectors. And Araknid's™ residents are riled. You now must face more Insektoids™ and a mean, mean Destructor™.

Nighttime means plight-time.

Depending on your Skill Level, your next round might take place at night. Unfortunately, you won't be able to see everything you saw during the daytime. Some things are identifiable, though. You can see the acid river. And you can see roaming Krystaloids™ plain enough. You can even spot Destructor™. But borders? Sorry. You'll have to bump your way around them. And Insektoids™? Forget it! They can sneak around in the dark to set ambushes for you!

Help in the dark.

There are some things that can help you in the darkness. Sounds, of course, continue to clue you in on activity. And you get a momentary flash of daylight when your ram-car bumps a Krystaloid™, border or the starcruiser, fires a Crystal, or teleports. Now's your chance to take a quick look around and get your bearings. And lucky for you, Insektoids™ glow with excitement as they get near you.

But your plight at night is the same as during the day. Keep collecting Crystals as fast as you can. And don't forget you're safe on the ramp of your starcruiser!

Sounding it out.

Your ears are as important as your eyes. Get to know the sounds you hear. Day or night, they warn you of danger, help you keep on your toes, and reinforce your actions. For example, when you're pushing a Crystal, it's "energized" and emits a pulsating sound. That's good. But when you hear a warning sound, it means that Destructor™ is near. That's bad! There are other sounds to listen for, but you'll hear them soon enough!

Round and round.

Survive your nighttime experience and you move on to further adventures. The farther you go, the tougher the job. Your commission is finally over when you've lost your last Ram-car.

Starting over.

Press * after a game to replay the DESTRUCTOR™ game option that you have just played. Press # to return to the Game Option screen.

Reset

Pressing the Reset Button stops the game and returns you to the Title Screen. Reset can be used to start a new game at any time, and can also be used in the event of a game malfunction.
